Allowing submissions after the due date is recommended (unless you do not accept late submissions).

Allow Originality Reports to be generated immediately and for reports to be overwritten up until the due date. This allows students to revise their draft to improve their Originality Report through correct citation and rephrasing.

Exclude small sources and set this threshold to 5%. This negates the matching of stopwords.

Allow students to see Originality Reports. This allows students to see their Originality Report as students can redraft and correct citation to improve their Originality score.

Tick these options for paper submissions. Students assignments will be compared against billions of internet documents, archived internet data that is no longer available on the live web, a local repository of previously submitted papers, and subscription repository of journals, and other publications.

Tick the box to use these as default settings and they will be applied to all
